In 2018, Worksafe organized support, submitted comments, and testified in favor of more protective health and safety standards. Their comprehensive response to the current draft makes the new rule more protective of California employees.

In 2018 Worksafe organized support, submitted comments, and testified in favor of more protective health and safety standards. Their comprehensive response to the current draft makes the new rule more protective of California employees.

In 2018 we continued to work with the Ya Basta! Coalition to address sexual violence against immigrant women in the janitorial sector. We’re working to implement AB 1978, a bill that requires employers to provide sexual harassment and violence training for janitorial workers.

In 2018 Worksafe participated in the Occupational Health Internship Program (OHIP), a partnership into an authentically worker-led effort, all coalition business is conducted in accordance with workers, advocates, and supervisors. This year Worksafe also joined Our Turn at Work, a national coalition of legal orgs assisted with workers, advocates, and supervisors. This year Worksafe also joined Our Turn at Work, a national coalition of legal orgs assisted with workers, advocates, and supervisors.

In 2018 we continued to work with the Ya Basta! Coalition to address sexual violence against immigrant women in the janitorial sector. We’re working to implement AB 1978, a bill that requires employers to provide sexual harassment and violence training for janitorial workers.

In 2018 we continued to work with the Ya Basta! Coalition to address sexual violence against immigrant women in the janitorial sector. We’re working to implement AB 1978, a bill that requires employers to provide sexual harassment and violence training for janitorial workers.

In 2018 we continued to work with the Ya Basta! Coalition to address sexual violence against immigrant women in the janitorial sector. We’re working to implement AB 1978, a bill that requires employers to provide sexual harassment and violence training for janitorial workers.